

COUVENT · ON THE MOVE ·

OUR VIGNERONS – OUR SOUL

Couvent would not be the same without its team of vignerons whom, for the large majority, have been with us for more than two decades.

During these uncertain times, the well-being of our team, our visitors, and the wider village communities are paramount to what we do. Couvent has therefore temporarily closed its doors to wine amateurs and those who, thanks to their custom and visits, have helped us perpetuate more than six centuries of winemaking at the domaine.

Nature does not wait but only the most indispensable vine works continue at Couvent. To ensure health and safety, each team member works alone in the allocated plot, with different timeslots and with utmost care to maintain appropriate distancing and hygiene standards.

Couvent is nevertheless getting ready and making preparations ahead to be back online rapidly and satisfy our trusted partners as soon as our team and the wider community is safe.

The whole team at Couvent wishes you and your close ones well, and looks forward to seeing you again soon in Saint-Émilion !

Denis and Bruno, harvests at Couvent, September 2017

Mathieu, harvests at Couvent, September 2019

Denis, vine works, summer 2013

Lunch during 2009 harvest at Couvent Chantal, Jean-Luc and Bruno in the foreground.

Denis meets with CentraleSupélec wine club, Paris 2020

Vine works on the Beau plot, April 2012

Karim and Elodie, harvests at Couvent, September 2017